

Tel: 01256 301900

email: sales@reacttechnologies.com

Remote working & home working solutions

What reasons do YOUR staff give for being absent from work?

- Swine Flu
- Road Works
- Snow
- Train Delays
- Floods
- Traffic Incidents
- Illness
- Sunny Friday Afternoon
- Hangover
- Car Trouble
- Childcare
- Monday Morning

Sound familiar?? It is a fact that staff will take time off work, from the slightly questionable calling in sick on a sunny Friday or miserable Monday morning to the more genuine reasons such as disrupted travel, school closures, or unforeseen family complications.

In the event of an uncontrollable or unforeseen incident such as a natural disaster or even the current flu pandemic; how will your business function if staff can't get into the office??

With pressure building up on Schools to remain closed after the summer to curb the spread of swine flu there is bound to be a knock on effect to SME businesses, so why not get the most out of your staff at work and at home..... ..In fact anywhere, anytime, all the time.

Day extenders, No sick days, Increased productivity, No office closures, 24/7 Access

...Sound Good?? Well there's even more good news. There are huge cost savings to be made on staff travel expenses as sales executives and engineers wouldn't have to travel into the office so frequently, which also attributes to savings in power consumption, heating and water bills etc, and this in turn could also save on the amount of physical office space you need.

Remote working policies and home working solutions can be achieved through various technologies such as wireless LAN or WAN, Microsoft, Virtualisation and VPN. The term 'remote working' often raises questions around network security and integrity which can be easily addressed with 2 factor authentication systems and network access control solutions. Remote working also opens doors to look at leading edge technologies such as fixed mobile convergence, location based services, location tracking and mobile computing.

So whatever your requirements REACT Technologies has the expertise, experience and best of breed solutions to deliver projects on budget, on time, every time.

Contact: sales@reacttechnologies.com

empower your Staff
...to work anytime from anywhere!

REACTtechnologies.com